

52 London Wall
London. Mar 24/51

My Dear friend

As a sincere
worker for humanity
I think you will have pleasure in taking
the hand of Mr Wm J.
Whitaker, who among the men of metal at Birmingham has stood the severest test of their acute scrutiny.
I think <sup>he</sup> will succeed in winning favor in Boston and you may possibly aid

him in the new sea
he proposes to navigate.

I sometimes enjoy
a pleasant breakfast at Maxwell Hill, and also meet "Edward Search" in the movement for National Education
and in other pursuits
a little more blissful
than the narrowness
of our business.

I see both the Liberator & North
Star, & should enjoy the function of contribution if anything worthy could come out of
Yours sincerely
Charles Lane

I should like our friend to see Dr. Walker Channing, Mr. Wm. H. H.
C. Wm. Adin Ballou
and others whom I may speak of as the "Sincere School."

To Mr. Wm. Lloyd Garrison.

u
 e p i
 p
 e x
 o
 e
 a
 j